

IRIS: A New Way of Seeing Healthcare

No single system can adequately run your healthcare facility or organization. Rules, applications, processes and departments change constantly. The environment becomes ever more complex to handle. Budgets are squeezed, but the demands increase, and the right information is in silos and unavailable. Administrators need the right tools to focus and succeed.

The Quantros IRIS clinical business application suite addresses the need for the right data at the right time. Quantros IRIS Executive™ takes data from across your organization's quality, safety and billing systems and presents it via intuitive dashboards. With widgets and other tools, it provides clinical, operational and financial department users access to key action-oriented and validated information.

Users see this information via a personally configured dashboard so that it's easy to use.

IRIS offers:

- A Key Performance Metrics Library: More than 200 metrics accessible by and across domains.
- Reports: Embedded and customized
- Scorecards: Goals, thresholds and trended performance with peers and Quantros clients
- Widgets: Powerful analytic tools
- Views: User configurable
- Infrastructure: Current feeds and data warehousing

These tools allow you to:

- Keep up with changing data requirements
- Make better decisions based on action-based information
- Drive analytical and quality and clinical improvement programs
- Set facility level goals and thresholds

Let IRIS change your view and focus. Our cloud-based infrastructure and configurable interface mean your start-up and training costs are minimal. But the advantages are enormous.

“Overall, using old data to drive our improvement processes was like driving using the rear view mirror. With IRIS, we get a forward-looking view of valid data at a lower cost of production.”

Glenn Mitchell
Chief Medical Officer of Sisters of Mercy Health System
